

Packaged Taiji Dolphin "Whale" Meat For Sale - March 10, 2014

By Sea Shepherd Cove Guardians Page (official) · Updated 8 hours ago · Taken at Taiji Japan

Taiji dolphin meat continues to be sold and sometimes labeled as whale meat in local supermarkets and tourist shops. We can confirm that shipments of whale meat have been delivered to one processing facility from Norway during the months of Nov-Jan. whether this meat is labeled coming from Taiji or if this "Taiji Whale Meat" is actually dolphin is unknown.

Ulrike Muller disgusting, either way - whale and dolphin, dog and cow. they are ALL souls and sentient beings. I hate what's happening with the dolphins, I hate what we do in the name of eating animals - as well as throwing the first stone, those of us who protest against this, might consider also going vegan. Because this is where the problem lies: if there is an 'industry', there is also demand. Cut the demand, and the industry falters. To cut the demand, start with ourselves. And then educate others to do the same. How many protesters are still meat eaters? It cannot be right. Lots of wrongs don't make one right. Please consider, on the strength of the feelings we all have about this horrific holocaust, consider, try it out, experiment on going vegan. It's not that hard. You save 170 animals a week by going vegan.

It had been scientifically proven pigs are more intelligent than dogs and have a massive family structure.... Just like dolphins. Mmm bacon and eggs and dolphin anyone....

But this strange country is so caught up with "losing face" and upsetting the status quo that they're prepared to continue to serve this meat to their children in schools. Secrecy, they're culture is built on it. I applaud the 2 jap scientists trying to change this dreadful mind set. Thanks for the post.

People are seduced by ego promoted by heartless fashion designers, whilst the hunters and trappers become rich, and fur animals live and die terribly.

Education is the only way forward, not withstanding that sometimes action speak louder than words...and direct action is the only language some animal abusers understand.

The fact is that as a nation, they clearly approve of their own sick behaviour, so I feel 100% justified in calling them an ethnically homogenous bunch of totally insensitive brutes. Meanwhile in China, dogs and cats are skinned alive in unspeakable agony, and bears are locked in tiny cages forever to be barbarically 'milked' of their bile fluid. What is it with these people?
